

Notes On Contributors

KATRINA BEAL is a commercial editor and postgraduate student in the Department of English at the University of Sydney.

DAVID BROOKS lectures in the Department of English at the University of Sydney and is Book Review editor of Literature and Aesthetics.

MAIREAD COSTIGAN is a graduate of Sydney University presently undertaking postgraduate research in the Department of Philosophy at Stanford University.

PETER EDWARDS is Emeritus Professor of English at the University of Queensland.

PATRICK HUTCHINGS is a former reader in Philosophy at Deakin University and the University of Western Australia and is currently an associate editor of the philosophical journal Sophia.

DAVID MUSGRAVE is a Sydney based poet and novelist whose poetry has been published in Southerly, Hermes, and Poetry Australia and has received a number of prestigious awards.

JONATHAN PICKERING has just completed a double Honours degree in German and English at the University of Sydney.

GOETZ RICHTER is Associate Concertmaster with the Sydney Symphony Orchestra and a senior lecturer at the Sydney Conservatorium, where he teaches violin, chamber music and instrumental pedagogy and is chair of the String Unit. He has a dual interest and background in music and philosophy.

LLOYD REINHARDT is co-editor of Literature and Aesthetics and is otherwise in a state of semi-retirement with a part-time appointment in the Department of Philosophy at the University of Sydney.

JOHN ROCHE teaches courses in the history of science at Linacre College, Oxford. His chief research interest lies in using the history of science to clarify concepts in present-day physics.

NOEL ROWE is a senior lecturer in Australian Literature at the University of Sydney and has published widely in (amongst others) Poetry Australia, Southerly, Meanjin, not to mention Literature and Aesthetics. 'Winter more than anyone knows' is from a volume entitled Perhaps after all and is published with the permission of Vagabond Press.

CATHERINE RUNCIE is a senior lecturer in English at the University of Sydney, the foundation president of the Sydney Society of Literature and Aesthetics, and foundation co-editor of Literature and Aesthetics.

GORDON SLETHAUG is a lecturer in English at the University of Hong Kong.

PHILOMENA VAN RIJSWIJK is an award-winning Tasmanian poet and novelist who has had poems published in Hobo, Island and Poetrix, as well as in the 1997 Newcastle Poetry Award Anthology (The Nighjar). A volume of hers entitled Trail of Bones and Godstones was published by Esperance Press in 1997.

DEBORAH WALKER is a postgraduate and part-time lecturer in the Department of French at the University of Auckland.

GARY WEBSTER is an associate professor of anthropology at Penn State University, Mount Alto, and is better known as the author of scholarly volumes, including A Prehistory of Sardinia 2300-500 BC. 'Genesis' is an extract from a longer poem and a larger volume entitled Archeology and is published with the permission of Mellen Poetry Press.