

il palazzo della gioia

he reaches
through a quilted sleeve
into silk
into her
into water

his fingers
stretch the surface
always nervous
sometimes sure
of inward glory

beyond him
they are bobbing
like corks
little eruptions
cascadescents

he swims
in the palace of recreation where even
the letter 's'
undulates

Eugenio Benitez